

Starting Preschool and School in 2013

Preschool in 2013

Preschool is an important early step on your child's journey through education, giving them the chance to play, learn, grow and develop.

There will soon be a change to the way children start preschool.

From 2014 there will be a new start date for preschool and school children. This will be the first day of Term 1.

The new start date will mean that all children will receive four terms of preschool and four terms of Reception.

Some things will be different in 2013 as we move to the new same first day arrangements.

When can my child start preschool in 2013?

From 2013, preschools will continue to enrol children in Terms 1 and 2 in 2013 as is the case under the current preschool enrolment policy.

If your child has turned four years of age by 29 January in 2013 they may start preschool in Term 1. If your child turns four years of age before 1 May, they may start preschool on the first day of Term 2, 2013.

The new Same First Day policy means there will be no general intake of children in Terms 3 and 4.

Preschools may make individual arrangements for children who start in Term 2 of 2013 to offer access to the equivalent of four terms of preschool over three terms, with additional hours being completed in Terms 3 and 4 of 2013.

Talk to your local preschool director to determine how this could best work for your child.

Starting school in 2013

Children who have started preschool in 2012 will start school after their four terms of preschool as is now the case.

Children who start preschool in Term 1 and Term 2 of 2013 will start school on the first day of Term 1 in 2014.

What happens if my child has additional needs?

Children with additional needs* may start preschool early. Your local preschool director or principal will work with you to manage this.

 Additional needs include disability, developmental delay, gifted development and children who are at risk because of culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds or family circumstance.*
