Farewell

Some exciting but sad news from me as I have been successful in winning a job at Immanuel College for next year. I have had a great year not only working with Indigenous students and families across the partnership but also the wider school community. We really do have a great school at SLPS and I'm stoked that I get to stay involved as a parent. Merry Christmas everyone.

Choir

Last week the choir once again joined together with the wider community to share their love of music and singing. We visited the residents at Murray Mudge Aged Care Facility in Glenelg to provide them with a choral concert and some combined Christmas carol singing. It was a wonderful afternoon highlighting just how much joy singing brings to people of all ages.

OSHC

The Summer Vacation Care Program is proving popular, with several excursion days already fully booked and others nearing capacity. Program details are available from OSHC and the School website.

Vicki's Corner

Hi Everyone, just want to say goodbye. Today is my last day at St Leonards as I will be moving on to Pennington and North Haven PS. I would like to say a HUGE thank you to everyone who has made the last two years an awesome experience. I have loved being a part of the St Leonards Community. Although I am sad to be leaving I am excited for my new opportunities ahead. I am also excited that there will be a new PCW here next year. She is an amazing lady and please make her feel as welcome as you have made me. I will miss all the students, parents, teachers and SSO's and fun times we have had.

Westcare wants to say a HUGE thank you to everyone who donated items especially the toys. West care provides a place where people can go and have Christmas lunch with others in the same situation as them. There are also many volunteers who will spend their time on Christmas Day serving and blessing these people. People all celebrate Christmas in different ways. Whatever you are doing and whoever you are spending your day with I pray that it be a day full of fun and laughter. Merry Christmas everyone.

Instrumental Music 2017

A message to parents from the Department for Education and Child Development

Our public education system has a very strong and proud history of delivering high-quality music education in South Australia. This will be strengthened as new music focus schools open in 2017, expanding the network to 19 across South Australia. The state government is also investing an extra $879,000 in instrumental music, bringing the total budget to more than $11 million in 2016-2017.

You may be aware that a Consent Order was issued in the Industrial Relations Commission earlier this year to apply 'best practice guidelines' for the engagement of music teachers and instructors in public schools. We wish to assure all members of your school community that it is our priority to continue to meet the learning needs of students. That includes ensuring that school programs continue so students who have been learning a musical instrument can continue to do so in 2017.

The department is working with individual schools to ensure this happens, within the context of decisions made by schools every year about their curriculum offerings, staffing and budget in consultation with their Personnel Advisory Committees and Governing Councils. Parents with questions about what this means for their child are encouraged to speak with their school principal in the first instance or visit www.decd.sa.gov.au for more information.
